WIN THE WORLD
WITH THE TRIPLE J HOTTEST 100.

Thank God for Alexander Graham Bell.

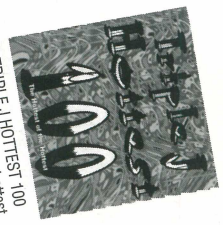
This Scottish scientist emigrated to America where he promptly invented the telephone. He was trying to use electricity to contact his dead brother on the other side and all he got was the end of the line. He thought the experiment a failure, but he took out a patent just the same. Which was just as well. Because without that shortcoming you wouldn't be able to connect with the Triple J Hottest 100 today.

TRIPLE J EARTHCORE
The world music show compilation.

So stay tuned. And start thinking where you'll be going if we spin you overseas. We've jotted down a couple of options. Feel free to choose. Just remember the world's your oyster. Thankfully, among other things, Alexander Graham Bell also investigated the stability of early flying machines. So now you can fly safely too. (Just as long as you don't use a mobile phone at the same time.)

TRIPLE J ELEVEN
The very loud compilation.

Once you vote you can get ready to win. Because we'll be dishing out stacks of prizes every day right up to the eve of Christmas. And then hold onto your seat. Since if you win the big one you'll really be spinning. We've got four round world trips to be won for you and three of your friends. Hey, are you going to be popular or what?



TRIPLE J HOTTEST 100
The hottest of the hottest

You know what to do. Just pick up the phone, dial 0055 29494 (any time's fine) and punch in your hottest track for the year. (It sure beats voting the old fashioned way.) We want to know all your hottest songs of the year. You can dial in and vote more than once. And if your track's not covered here, you can nominate it yourself. (Ain't technology great. Imagine if politics was this easy.)

Okay. Here's that famous fine print with all the formal conditions of entry and stuff. Anyone can call up and enter. Except of course ABC employees and their immediate few. (Granma, I'm not going to tell you again!) In order to be in the draw for prizes you must call 0055 29494 and complete the entry procedure in full. (It's not hard. You don't need a degree in astrophysics to put your phone to work.) The maximum cost for a call is 50 cents from anywhere in Australia. Even Tasmania. (Which is a lot more sensible than killing trees and then scratching around for a stamp.) Winners will be drawn at random electronically from a computer with enough processing power to melt your brain. The competition closes on December 24, 1994. (What? Christmas already!) None of the prizes are redeemable for cash. And yep, our decision is final.

UNITED STATES / RED HOT CHILI TATTOOS
Fly into Los Angeles and catch the Red Hot Chili Peppers live and kicking in concert. Pop round to the band's favourite tattoo parlour and get marked for life. Really impress your mum. (No typos, thanks.)

ENGLAND / MULTIPLE CHOICE
How democratic can you get. You wanna live music festival? Take your pick. Either Reading or Glastonbury. Either way you're gonna get more music than you'll know what to do with. Get right up close and blow your ears away.

INDONESIA / WIPE OUT
Hit the ultimate wave in the world at Grajagan. (G Land for surfers in the know.) Hot dang, it's gotta be the best left on the planet. Plus we'll be covering your accommodation, food and pretty much everything else so all you have to worry about is surfing.

BRAZIL / CARNIVALE TIME
Let your hair down. Or let it up if you prefer. Go mad at the annual Carnivale at Rio de Janeiro. Write a pop song while you're there and live off the royalties for the rest of your life. We'll even accommodate you for a week so you'll have somewhere to crash in private.

ANTARCTICA / COOL
How about freezing? American aviator Richard Byrd (neat surname) first flew over the south pole in 1929. Now you can do it again in the comfort of first class. Pack your shades. Cause you'll be flying so low you can almost touch all that ice. Not to mention those flippy penguins.
